

RELOCATION

The three most important reasons for managing a move is to manage the schedule, control the cost and cause minimum disruption to the employees.

Whether the moves are part of ongoing day-to-day organizational changes, a restack of an entire building, or a move from one building to another, these three goals should always be considered.